

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

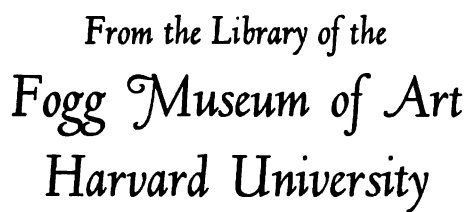

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. PREFACE

It is the aim of this book to assist those who visit the Art Department of the World's Columbian Exposition to see the various works of art easily, and—through the index—to locate the works of any particular artist without difficulty or loss of time.

The arrangement of the numbering of the galleries suggests the order in which the works can be seen to the best advantage.

Each work of art, it will be noticed, now bears two numbers—one in black figures, the other in red. The numbers to which this catalogue refers are the numbers printed in RED.

THE ART PALACE.

Grecian-Ionic in style, the Fine Arts Building is a type of the most refined classic architecture. The structure comprises three large pavilions known as the Central, East and West Pavilions. Its total length, east and west, is 1,120 feet, and its extreme width, north and south, 500 feet. The Central Pavilion, an oblong building measuring 500x320 feet, is intersected by a great nave and a transept, each 100 feet wide and 70 feet high. At their intersection is a dome 60 feet in diameter and 125 feet high, surmounted by a colossal statue of the type of the famous figure of Winged Victory. The transept has a clear space through the center of 60 feet, being lighted entirely from above. On either side are galleries 20 feet wide and 24 feet above the floor. The collections of sculptures and architectural casts are displayed on the main floor of the nave and transept, and here also, on the walls, are shown drawings and sculptured panels in relief. The sections bordered by the nave and transept are filled with picture galleries, ranging from 30x30 feet to 36x120 feet in area. The Central Pavilion is entered by four great portals, richly ornamented with architectural sculpture and approached by broad flights of steps. The East and West Pavilions have entrances from the Central Pavilion and entrances from outside on their North and South fronts. The walls of the loggia of the colonnades are highly decorated with sculptural fragments from the antique. All light is supplied through glass skylights in iron frames.

The building is located in the Northern portion of the park, with the South front facing the lagoon, from which it is separated by terraces ornamented with balustrades. A flight of steps leads down from the main portal to the lagoon, where there is a landing for boats. The immediate neighborhood of the building is ornamented with groups of statues, replicas of classic art, such as the Choragic monument, etc. Architect, C. B. Atwood, of Chicago, Designer-in-Chief of the Exposition.

THE AWARDS.

Following are the Awards to the artists of the various countries which submitted their exhibits for consideration by the International Board of Judges.

It may be mentioned that France, Belgium, Russia and Norway did not submit their exhibits for examination.

Works by members of the Board of Judges were not subject to examination for Award, and no judgment was passed upon works of artists who expressed a desire to withdraw them from competition.

GROUP 140—OIL PAINTINGS.

The visitor to the United States section who desires to make a study of American Painting should begin with the "Retrospective Exhibit," which gives a review of American painting from its beginning to the year 1876. Most of the artists who achieved prominence prior to 1876, and who are now deceased, are represented by as characteristic examples of their work as could be secured.

The numbering of the paintings in the United States section begins, therefore, in the "Retrospective" gallery, which, in the plan, is numbered "4."

It may be mentioned that the oldest picture in the collection is the large canvas by Smybert, No. 212, hanging on the center of the East wall. Smybert was the first artist painting in this country of whom we have both record and examples. Following the Smybert, the earliest pictures, in the order of their production, are No. 256, by Jonathan B. Blackburn; No. 236, by Robert Edge Pine; Nos. 203 and 249, by John Singleton Copley; Nos. 210 and 247, by Benjamin West; No. 167, by Charles Willson Peale; No. 197, by James Peale; No. 245, by Wertmuller, and nine paintings by Gilbert Stuart—hanging "on the line," on the East wall. A particularly noteworthy painting, No. 254, by Mathew H. Jouett, hangs on the line in the center of the West wall.

- Sombreuil appears. He is condemned. The door opens. His daughter glides forward and hangs upon the neck of the old man, shielding him with her body and begging the assassins to spare her father or kill her with the same blow. The sublimity of her devotion and the fervor of her supplications move these butchers. The cry that Sombreuil be spared is raised by the mob. The weapons are lowered and the life of the father is granted the daughter, but at a horrible price. It is exacted that to signify her abjuration of the aristocracy she drink from a glass filled with the blood of the aristocrats. Madame de Sombreuil seizes the glass with a firm hand, raises it to her lips and drinks to the health of her father. This act saves him. (LAMARTINE—History of the Girondists.)

796. Dessar, Louis P. (Paris, France) Evening.
797. Marr, Carl (Munich, Bavaria). The Flagellants.

History records the fact that, owing to wars, the plague, religious persecution, internal dissensions, the contention of Church and State and the despotic rule of relentless tyrants, the people of Southern Europe in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries were in a despairing condition. When prayer proved unavailing in mitigation of their distress, the most devout among them sought to gain the favor of the Almighty by self-torture in public places in the towns. Their example was followed, and soon young and old practiced self-flagellation. With scourge in hand, praying, weeping, groaning and singing, the people formed into great processions led by fanatics. Beginning at Perugia, they overran Italy, and, to some extent, the northern countries of Europe.

FRENCH HISTORIC SCULPTURES.

CASTS OF SCULPTURE (MOSTLY AS APPLIED TO ARCHITECTURE), FROM THE IX TO THE XIX CENTURY, INCLUSIVE.

NUMBERS 1196 TO 1311, INCLUSIVE.

COLLECTION FORMED UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE FRENCH NATIONAL COMMITTEE ON HISTORIC MONUMENTS FROM

THE MUSEUM OF COMPARATIVE SCULPTURE,
(PALACE OF THE TROCADERO, PARIS),

THE MUSEUM OF THE LOUVRE
AND

THE MUSEUM OF DECORATIVE ARTS, PARIS.

These casts all have been made from molds formed directly from the original objects; the material composing the molds having been forced into the smallest interstices of the stone, terra-cotta, wood or other material of the object to be copied, so as to reproduce in perfect detail all its textural qualities and slightest markings.

SEVERAL VOLUMES OF PHOTOGRAPHS OF THE MOST NOTEWORTHY EXAMPLES OF FRENCH HISTORIC ARCHITECTURE AND SCULPTURE ARE PLACED UPON A DESK IN THE CENTER OF THE EAST COURT, NEAR THE SECOND SCREEN.

EAST COURT.

EAST WALL.

- 1196. Germain-Pilon (1535 or 1536). The Virgin of Grief; or the Virgin of St. Cyr. A statue originally placed in the Sainte-Chapelle, Paris; since 1816 in the Chapel of the School of St. Cyr. (From the Musée of the Louvre.) Original in terra cotta, with traces of color.
- 1197. Cathedral of Rheims. (Last of the XIII century.) Figure of a Prophet, from the interior decoration of the west wall. Original in stone. Height, 2.10 meters; width, 77 centimeters.
- 1198. Cathedral of Rheims. (Last half of the XIII century. Base and capital of a pillar from the side south of the Nave. Original in stone. Base height, 1.65 meters; width, 3 meters; capital height, 3.87 meters; width, 3 meters; height of shaft between the base and capital is 3.61 meters in the original.

ON SCREEN NO. 1—EAST SIDE.

1199. The Abbey of Charlieu (Loire). Part of the west front. Twelfth century. Original in stone. Height, 11 meters; width, 11.50 meters. (Trocadero collection.)

That part of the elevation which is shown comprises two semi-circular openings; one, a doorway, and the other a small window. An upright band of carved ornaments frames in the doorway at the sides. On the lintel, the Saviour is represented seated between two angels surrounded by the twelve apostles. In the tympanum, a nimbus, supported by two angels, contains a bas-relief of the Saviour pronouncing a blessing. Around the nimbus are the symbols of the four evangelists. Figures of angels are used as terminals for the semi-circular arches. The lintel rests on two pilasters, the capitals of which are carved in foliated forms; on the left reveal a bas-relief represents a woman with a snake wound about her and a toad biting at her breast, symbolizing lewdness. Underneath are small medallions containing chimerical animals. The pilasters supporting the first arch also support two small figures wearing stoles. Above the second pilaster are figures of David and St. John the Baptist.

The window shows the following subjects: In the tympanum, on the arch, the Saviour and Apostles; on one of the capitals of the reveal, a demon; on the opposite capital, the Holy Trinity. The lintel seems to represent a sacrifice. Above it, and set in the wall, there is a small bas-relief of a figure issuing from clouds. The subject of this is not known.

SOUTH WALL—ALCOVE 88.

1200. Ancient Custom House of Rouen. High relief adorning the pediment. By Nicolas Coustou. Eighteenth century. Original in stone. Height, 2.80 meters; length, 9.20 meters. (Trocadero collection.)

ON SCREEN NO. 1—SOUTH END.

The Hotel Carnavelet was begun in 1544, on the plans of Pierre Lescot and John Bullant. Continued by Andronet du Cerceau and finally extended and completed by François Mansart in 1655. From 1677 to 1696 it was the residence of Mme. De Sévigné. It is now the property of the city of Paris and is used as a historical museum. The decoration was originally awarded to Jean Goujon and to the Florentine, P. Ponzio, known as "Maitre Ponce," who had been for years established in France.

1220. Chateau of Ferte-Milon (Aisne). High relief placed above the entrance, representing the Crowning of the Holy Virgin. Early part of Fifteenth century. Original in stone. Height, 5.10 meters; width, 6.40 meters. (Trocadero collection.)

The Saviour, seated, holds a globe in one hand, and with the other seems to be blessing the Holy Virgin, who kneels before Him. A kneeling angel leads the Virgin, and three other angels attend her, one of them holding her garment. Still another angel appears in the clouds and holds a crown above the Virgin's head. The composition is framed by an elaborately carved elliptical arch, below which three angels support two escutcheons bearing the arms of Orleans.

IN THE CENTER OF THE COURT.

1222. Guillaume de Chanac, Bishop of Paris, Patriarch of Alexandria, founder in 1338 of the College of St. Michel in Paris (later known as the College de Pompadour); died, 1348. Fourteenth century. Original in marble. Length, 1.94 meters; width, 49 centimeters.

This figure was originally over his tomb; formerly in the chapel of the Abbey of St. Victor, in Paris. Today it is in the Louvre.

1223. Cathedral of Amiens. Tomb of Evrard de Fouilloy. Seventeenth century. Original in bronze. Length, 2.40 meters; width, 1.31 meters.

Evrard de Fouilloy (died, 1222), the forty-fifth Bishop of Amiens, laid the cornerstone of the cathedral in 1220. His tomb is supported by six lions. The Bishop lies in churchly robes with his feet resting upon two dragons. On either side a priest is represented, holding a wax candle, and an angel, swinging a censer. On the edge of the tomb is engraved:

*Qui populum pavit et fundamenta locavit
Hujus Structuræ, cujus fuit urbs data curæ,
Hic redolens nardus, fama requiescit Evrardus,
Vir pius adfectis viduis tutela, relictis
Custos; quos paterat recreabat munere, verbis;
Milibus agnus erat, timedis, leo, lima superbia.*

- 1224. The Three Graces, by Germain Pilon (1535-1590). Group from the Church of the Celestins, Paris; now in the Louvre. Original in marble. Height, 1.5 meters.

They stand upright, draped, back to back, with their hands touching. Upon their heads originally was an urn which contained the heart of King Henry II, when this monument was set up in the chapel of Orleans, in the Church of the Celestins.

- 1225. Statue of Voltaire, by Houdon (1781). Original in marble. Height, 1.65 meters.

The great man is seated, smiling, his hair encircled by a band; he is enveloped in an ample robe, and his long hands clasp the arms of the chair. This statue, shown in the salon of 1781, now stands in the foyer of the Comedie Française, Paris.

- 1226. Statue, generally known under the name of "the Sheik el Beled." Found in a funeral urn in the necropolis of Memphis. One of the oldest statues known. Original in wood, in the Museum at Boulak. (Trocadero collection.)

- 1227. The Abbey Church of Saint Gilles (Gard). Central portal and part of the west front. Twelfth century. Original in stone. Height, 7 meters; width, 13 meters.

The tympanum, now partly destroyed, originally contained a bas-relief representing the Saviour surrounded by the symbolical animals of the Evangelists. The main arch springs from a cornice, in which are seen acanthus leaves and brackets, with carved symbols. The history of the Holy Passion is represented on the broad frieze under this cornice. Beginning at the left are seen the money-lenders being driven from the Temple, the Resurrection of Lazarus, and the Saviour prophesying Peter's denial. On the lintel are found the Last Supper, Peter and Malchus, the Kiss of Judas, the Saviour before Pilate, and the Flagellation. The lintel is supported by two fluted pilasters upholding eagles. A similar shaped pilaster, though somewhat smaller, is used for the mullion. Each arcade contains statues of two draped apostles, with halos, standing on lions that seem to be in the act of devouring men and animals.

The base of the front is decorated with carved bands of fretwork and acanthus-leaf designs, framing the following bas-reliefs: On the left, the Sacrifice of Cain and Abel; on the right, an Archer Killing a Stag, and a Lion Hunt. At the sides of the doorway there are two pedestals supporting double Corinthian columns, on the common base of which are shown hunting scenes and scenes in the History of David.

The broad frieze of the front is supported by four Corinthian columns (only two of which have been reproduced in the cast). Its lower edge has a narrow carved band showing heads and animals. In the spaces between the columns there are six statues of apostles, placed in niches, between which are fluted pilasters supporting a foliated scroll.

- 1228. Statue of Phillipe de Morvillier, First President of the Parliament of Paris (Died 1438). Fifteenth century. The head and hands of the original in marble; the body, stone. Length, 1.80 meters; width, 57 centimeters. (From the Louvre.)

From the tomb formerly in the Chapel of St. Nicholas, of the Church of the Monastery of St. Martin des Champs, Paris. The robe is that of the members of the Parliament, and formerly was painted red. There were three bands of ermine upon the left shoulder.

- 1229. Statue of Philip VI, King of France (Died 1350). Attributed to André Beauneveu. (From the Louvre.) Original in marble. Length, 1.72 meters; width, 55 centimeters.

From the tomb of the entrails of the King, in the Church of the Jacobins, rue Saint Jacques, Paris. The right hand of the King holds a sceptre; the left, resting upon the breast, holds the case which, in funeral symbolism was supposed to contain the heart of the person in whose honor the tomb was erected.

ALCOVE 90.

1230. Diana, By Houdon (1741-1828). (From the Louvre.) Eighteenth century. Bronze. Height, 1.90 meters.

In the first panel (a), No. 1265, on the west wall of alcove 92 (the second alcove to the west,) King Henry VIII, of England, is shown, coming out of the town of Guines; in the fifth (e) King Francois I, of France, is coming out of the town of Andres; in the second panel (b) the King of England, preceded by Cardinal Wolsey, and accompanied by the Dukes of Norfolk and Suffolk and a number of the Lords, advances to meet Francis I; the fourth panel (d) shows King Francis I, escorted by the Papal Nuncio, the Cardinals of Bourbon, Lorraine and d' Albert, and the gentlemen of his court proceeding to the place of meeting; the third panel (c) represents the meeting of the two kings, with their gorgeously costumed attendants in the background.

1232. Hotel de Bourgtheroulde (Rouen). The Meeting on the Field of the Cloth of Gold. (b) King Henry VIII of England advancing to meet King Francis I, of France.
1233. Hotel de Bourgtheroulde (Rouen). The Meeting on the Field of the Cloth of Gold. (d) King Francis I, with his retinue, proceeding to the place of meeting.
1234. Hotel de Bourgtheroulde (Rouen). The Meeting on the Field of the Cloth of Gold. (e) King Francis I coming out of the town of Andres.
1235. Cathedral of Rouen. Tomb of Louis de Brézé, High Seneschal of Normandy and husband of Diane de Poitiers (Died 1531). This monument was executed by Jean Cousin (died 1590) and Jean Goujon. (Sixteenth century. Height, 7 meters; width, 4 meters.)

In the original the statue of De Brézé is in alabaster, lying on a sarcophagus of black marble bearing the inscription:

"Miseri Cordes Oculas ad nos Convertite."

At the head of the sarcophagus, Diane de Poitiers is portrayed kneeling. At the foot are the Holy Virgin and the infant Saviour. On either side of these are Corinthian columns supporting an entablature, the frieze of which is richly carved. Above this and under an arch is an equestrian statue of Louis de Breze in warrior's dress, with his sword in his hand. On each side draped caryatides support another entablature. The caryatides on the left side represent victory and faith; those on the right, prudence and glory, the following inscriptions being engraved on the various pedestals:

"Cum triumpho vivit."

"Fidelis Semper."

"Prudens omni tempore."

"Mortuus Cum gloria."

IN THE CENTER OF THE COURT.

- 1236. Chateau of Marly. Adonis resting, after the chase. Group executed in 1710 by Nicholas Coustou (1658-1733) for the chateau. Eighteenth century. Original in marble; in the Louvre. Height, 1.85 metres.

ON SCREEN NO. 2.

- 1237. Cathedral of Paris (Notre Dame). West front; tympanum of the left portal (the "Portal of the Holy Virgin"). Beginning of the thirteenth century. Original in stone. Height, 7.10 meters; width, 5.75 meters. (Trocadero collection.)

This tympanum is divided into three parts: The first one (the lintel) represents, on one side, three prophets holding a scroll; on the other side, three crowned kings. In the center is a reliquary, under which is the statue of the Holy Virgin. The second part represents the entombment of the Virgin; two angels hold the shroud in which she lies, while in the background the Saviour, surrounded by the apostles, gives His blessing. The third, or upper part, represents the crowning of the Virgin. Here she is seen seated at the right of the Saviour, and holding a crown, which an angel seems to have handed her. On either side there is a kneeling angel, holding a torch. All these figures are in high relief.

- 1239. Nymph and Goat, or Amalthée, by Pierre Julien (1731-1804). Eighteenth century. Original in marble. Height 1.72 meters. (From the Louvre.)

This group, which figured in the salon of 1791, was afterward in the Dairy of the Chateau of Rambouillet.

Upon a pedestal, ornamented with acanthus leaves and with pearl moldings, lie the bodies of the king and queen, both nude. The queen is represented as still young—as she appeared at the time of the death of Henry II.

IN CENTER OF COURT.

1253. Chateau of Versailles, Sculpture in the Park (Parterre d'Eau). La Garonne, group by Coysevox (1640-1720). Seventeenth century. Original in bronze. Height, 1.40 meters; length, 2.55 meters. (Trocadero collection.)

A bearded figure, typifying a river-god, reclines, leaning upon an urn and holding a rudder in his hand. At his feet is a cupid.

- 1254. Cathedral of Bordeaux. Portal of the north transept. Fourteenth century. Original in stone. Height, 11 meters; width, 10.68 meters.

The statue against the mullion is that of Bertrand de Goth, archbishop of Bordeaux, elected Pope in 1305 under the name of Clement V. He is represented arrayed in a chasuble with gloved hands, with a tiara on his head, giving a blessing with his right hand. On the imposts are statues of mitred bishops in niches, each under a carved dais. The first archivault contains statuettes of angels; the other two contain statuettes of the twelve apostles and various prophets and patriarchs. In the tympanum there are three rows of bas-reliefs; the lower one represents the Last Supper; the next one the Ascension, and the upper one shows the Saviour seated under a canopy between two angels—one of which holds a lance and the other the Napkin of Saint Veronica. There are, besides these, two kneeling angels holding symbols of the sun and moon.

- 1255. Chateau of Versailles, Park (Parterre d'Eau). Nymph and Cupid, by Magnier (1647-1715). Seventeenth century. Original in bronze. Height, 1.40 meters; length, 2.55 meters. (Trocadero collection).

Crowned with aquatic plants, the nymph, half reclining, raises in her right hand corals and pearls. She rests her left hand upon a rudder. Behind her a cupid menaces a crocodile with a stick.

- 1256. Church of Notre Dame du Port, at Clermont-Ferrand. Portal of the south front. Latter part of the eleventh century. Original in stone. Height, 6.58 meters; width 4.32 meters. (Trocadero collection).

At the sides of the opening are the figures of Isaiah and Saint John the Baptist. The Adoration of the Magi is represented on the lintel, together with the "Presentation in the Temple and the Baptism of the Saviour." In the center, the Saviour is seen seated between two angels. About His head the letters, Alpha and Omega, are engraved, and beneath Him are the symbols of the Evangelists. Two groups, representing the Annunciation and the Birth of the Saviour, are carved at the sides of the arch.

ON THE SOUTH END OF SCREEN 2.

- 1257. Palace of the Louvre (Paris). Decoration of the staircase of Henry II. Panel, with head of a lion and garlands of fruit. Sixteenth century. Original of stone. Height, 1.50 meters; width, 1.50 meters.

- 1258. Fountain of the Innocents at Paris. Bas-reliefs executed by Jean Goujon (1520-1572) in 1550, at the time of the reconstruction of the monument by Pierre Lescaut. Sixteenth century. Original in stone. Height, 2.35 meters; width, 75 centimeters.

These bas-reliefs represent six figures of Naiads holding urns, or rudders, and symbolize the Rivers of France.

- 1259. Marie de Barbaçon-Cany. Mortuary statue, by Barthélemy Prieur (died 1611). From the Chateau of Versailles. Early years of the Seventeenth century. Original in marble. Height, 1.34 meters; width, 1.8 meters. (Trocadero collection.)

She kneels upon a cushion in an attitude of prayer; at her feet is a little dog.

- 1260. Palace of the Louvre. Two Victories, framing one of the bull's-eyes of the court. By Jean Goujon (1520-1572). Sixteenth century. Original in stone. Height, 2.34 meters; width, 1.84 meters.

ALCOVE 92.

1261. Church of St. Jean (Troyes). One of the bas-reliefs of the High Altar, representing "The Last Supper." Sixteenth century. Original in alabaster. Height, 70 centimeters; width, 1.45 meters.
1262. Chapel of St. Germer (Oise). Reredos of the main altar. Second half of the thirteenth century. Original of stone, and now preserved in the Cluny Museum in Paris. Length, 3.70 meters; width, 57 centimeters.

1263. Cathedral of Aix (Bouches-du-Rhone). Portal of the West front. First years of the sixteenth century. Original of stone and wood. Height, 5.50 meters; width, 5.80 meters. (Trocadero collection.)

On the pier are the Virgin and Child, beneath an elaborate canopy. On the lower portion of the doors are the four great prophets—Ezekiel, Daniel, Jeremiah and Isaiah, enmounted by canopies of elaborate ornamentation, separated, two by two, by pilasters, decorated with arabesques and small figures, and bearing at their capitals and on their bases the symbols of the Four Evangelists. The upper parts of the doors present the figures of the twelve sibyls, each under a canopy.

1264. Chateau de Gaillon (Eure). A stall of the choir of the chapel, executed in 1509 by artists of Rouen; preserved today in the Abbey Church of St. Denis. Sixteenth century. Original of wood. Height, 2.90 meters; width, 1 meter. (Trocadero collection.)

Below the elbow-rests rise two posts, designed in the ogival style of the close of the fifteenth century, between which are placed two panels, which form the high back of the stall. In the first, in marquetry of wood of various colors, Justice, seated and crowned, holds in one hand the sword, and in the other the scales. A phylactery bears her name. In the second, the Nativity of St. John the Baptist is represented, sculptured in relief, under an architectural decoration of the style of the Renaissance. The back is ornamented with arabesques. Upon the seat and the posts are sculptured figures in high relief.

1265. Hotel de Bourgtheroulde (Rouen). One of five bas-reliefs representing the Meeting, on the Field of the Cloth of Gold, of King Henry VIII, of England, and King Francis I, of France. (See No. 1231 et seq.) This relief shows King Henry VIII leaving the town of Guines. Sixteenth century. Original in stone. Height, 85 centimeters; length, 2.4 meters.
1266. Chateau of Lude (Sarthe). Statuette of an angel, serving as a weather-cock. Fifteenth century. Original of copper repoussé. Height, 1.12 meters. Executed in 1475 by Jehan Barbet, of Lyons. (Explained in an inscription in Gothic letters.)
1267. Cathedral of Tours. Tomb of the Children of Charles VIII, King of France. Finished in 1506, by Jean Juste (died about 1535). Formerly in the Church of St. Martin, and now in the Cathedral. Sixteenth century. Original in marble. Height, 1.35 meters; length, 1.91 meters; width, 90 centimeters. (Trocadero collection.)

Upon the sarcophagus are lying the two princes, clad in long robes sewn with fleur-de-lis and dolphins; their heads reposing upon two cushions supported by two kneeling angels; at their feet are two other angels in the same position holding shields. The long sides of the monument are decorated with escutcheons with the arms of the Dauphins of France, each between two winged genii. Upon the ends, inscriptions appear upon medallions, which, in the original, are in black marble. Upon the sides of the top-piece, of which the angles are formed by four dolphins, are several figures terminating in arabesques, and groups representing Hercules in conflict with the Hydra, Hercules wrestling with Alceste, Samson carrying off the gates of Gaza, Samson strangling the lion, Samson armed with the jaw-bone of the ass, and Delilah cutting Samson's hair. At the head of the sarcophagus are a centaur and a siren; at the foot are two chimerical figures.

AT PARTITION—BETWEEN ALCOVES 92 AND 93.

1268. Chateau of Versailles. The Park—Parterre of Latone. Bacchante. Terminal figure, by Jean Dedieu (of Arles). Eighteenth century. Original in marble. Height, 3.05 meters; width, 1.10 meters. (Trocadero collection.)

ALCOVE 93.

1269. Cathedral of Beauvais. Door (one of a pair) from the portal of the south transept. Sixteenth century. Original doors of wood. Height, 6 meters; width, 2 meters. (Trocadero collection.)

The portal, of which these doors are part, is subdivided by a mullion, against which, prior to 1793, there was a statue of Saint Peter under a canopy. Each of the double doors, which were executed by Jean le Pot, a sculptor living in Beauvais, (who died about the year 1565) are divided into three panels by small engaged columns. In the lower part of the panels are seen arabesque ornaments and salamanders, the latter being the emblem of Francis I. The conversion of Saint Paul is represented in the center of the right hand door, while the Healing of the Sick is portrayed on the left hand door. The upper portion of each panel has a richly carved frame.

1271. Palace of the Louvre. Staircase of Henry II. Door-jamb ornamented with flowers. Original of stone. Variation of No. 1267.
1273. Chateau of Versailles. The Park—Parterre d'Eau Group of children, by Van Clève (1645-1732). Seventeenth century. Original in bronze. Height, 1.75 meters; width, 1.95 meters. (Trocadero collection.)

IN THE CENTER OF THE COURT.

1274. Chateau of Versailles. The Park—Parterre d'Eau. Nymph and Cupid, by Magnier (1647-1715). Seventeenth century. Original of bronze. Height, 1.40 meters; width, 2.55 meters. (Trocadero collection.)

Leaning upon her elbow upon a mass of shells, the nymph reclining, half nude, holds in her right hand a plan half unrolled. Her left hand rests upon the shoulder of a cupid which, standing on a dolphin, blows in a conch shell.

- 1275. Cathedral of Nantes. Tomb of Francis II, the last Duke of Brittany, and of Marguerite de Foix, his second wife. Finished between 1502 and 1507, by Michel Colombe (died 1512) after the designs of Jeha Perréal (died 1529). Originally in the church of the Carmelites, at Nantes; later transferred to the cathedral. Beginning of the sixteenth century. Original in marble. Height, 1.60 meters; length, 3.60 meters; width, 1.62 meters. (Trocadero collection.)

The sarcophagus, which is in white marble, is covered by a slab of black marble, upon which repose the duke and duchess, crowned and with their hands joined. Three kneeling angels support their heads upon the cushions there; at their feet, a lion and a greyhound guard their shields. In the original the base is decorated with sixteen medallions framing mourners, of whom the garments are of green marble and the faces and hands are of white marble. Below are sixteen statuettes in white marble: the twelve apostles, (separated by pilasters adorned with arabesques); at the sides of the head, St. Louis and Charlemagne, and at the sides of the foot, St. Francis of Assisi and Ste. Marguerite the two latter, the patron saints of the duke and the duchess. In the angles of the monument, four figures represent the cardinal virtues. Justice holds in her left hand the book of the law, and in her right, a sword. Prudence, with a double face, carries a mirror and a compass; at her feet is a serpent. Temperance holds a bridle and a clock. Force, wearing casque and cuirasse, carries in the left hand a crenellated tower, from which she drags out a monster.

- 1276. Chateau of Versailles. The Park—Bosquet de la Danse. Vase by Lehongre (1628-1690). Seventeenth century. Original in lead. Height, 1.10 meters. (Trocadero collection.)
- 1277. Chateau de Marly. A shepherd and a little Satyr. Group executed by Coysevox for the Chateau de Marly (at present in the Louvre). Eighteenth century. Original in marble. Height, 1.85 meters.

The shepherd, seated, plays upon his flute; the little satyr, approaches silently, his finger upon his lips, to rob the shepherd of his baton.

- 1278. Chateau of Versailles. The Park—Parterre d'Eau. La Dordoge, by Coysevox. Seventeenth century. Original in bronze. Height, 1.40 meters; width, 2.55 meters.) (Trocadero collection.)

A nymph reclines, resting her right elbow upon two urns from which two streams are flowing, typifying the two tributaries of the river. A cupid leans upon her.

AT PARTITION—BETWEEN ALCOVES 82 AND 83.

- 1279. Chateau of Versailles. The Park—Parterre of Latone. Hercules. Terminal figure by Lecomte (1737-1817). Eighteenth century. Original in marble. Height, 3.5 meters. (Trocadero collection.)
- He is clothed in a lion's skin and carries a club upon his shoulder.

ALCOVE 82.

- 1280. Chateau of Versailles. The Park—Parterre d' Eau. Group of Children playing with a Swan. Seventeenth century. Original in bronze. Height, 1.75 meters; width, 1.15 meters.
- 1281. Cathedral of Mans. Tomb of Guillaume de Bellay, Lord of Langey, Governor of Piémont, for the King of France (Died 1543). This tomb was erected in 1557, in the Chapel of Notre Dame du Chevet, now called "The Chapel of the Holy Virgin." It is supposed to have been executed by Jean Cousin or Germain Pilon. Sixteenth century. Original in marble. Height, 1.72 meters; width, 2.11 meters. (Trocadero collection.)

AT THE SOUTH END OF SCREEN 3.

EAST SIDE OF SCREEN 3.

1283. Cathedral of Limoges. Gallery. Executed in 1533–1534. Name of designer unknown. Original in stone. Height, 6.30 meters; width, 11.4. meters. Erected for Jean de Langeac, Bishop of Limoges, Ambassador of France to Rome.

In the center is an elliptical doorway with fluted columns, from which spring two clusters of balusters of various shapes, on which delicate flowers and bas-reliefs are carved. On the base occurs this device, "Marcescit in ocio Virtus," which is repeated in other parts of the work. The gallery is terminated by columns at each end. To each inter-columniation there are three niches—which are now empty, but above which are the remains of most exquisite canopy brackets and small pilasters. On either side of the brackets are angels carrying symbols of the Holy Passion. Below these are wreaths, in the center of which were originally, it is supposed, the arms of Jean de Langeac. Below the niches are six bas-reliefs representing the Tasks of Hercules. The upper portion of the monument is corbelled out so as to form a gallery, on the face and between the arches of which are pendants and niches filled with mutilated statues. The latter seem to represent Faith, Hope and Charity on one side, and Justice, Prudence and Temperance on the other. These pendants are connected by arches, in the mouldings of which are seen carved heads of cherubs.

The balustrade is composed of exquisitely carved pilasters and columns. The entire ornamentation, especially that of the pilasters about the niches, contains arabesque and foliated forms together with many symbolical figures, and furnishes a remarkably good example of the wealth of imagination for which the artists in the period of the Renaissance were noted.

At the bottom of the first pilaster, to the left of the door, near a figure of a warrior, the name "David" is engraved on a shield; while on another pilaster occurs the date 1533. On the fourth pilaster to the right, under a female figure and between two figures of children, is seen the name "Charitas." Another date, 1534, is found upon a bracket under the last pendant on the right hand side.

AT THE NORTH END OF SCREEN 3.

1284. Chateau of Versailles Park—Bosquet de la Danse. Torch stand, by Masson (1627–1684). Seventeenth century. Original in lead. Height, 2.31 meters; width, 1 meter.

ALCOVE 94.

A bracket of considerable projection divides the door into two panels and carries four statuettes representing St. John the Baptist, St. John the Evangelist, Moses and Abraham. Between these statuettes figures in slight relief typify three of the seasons. In the center of the upper panel a medallion illustrates the parable of the good Shepherd. Jesus Himself appears to explain the meaning of it to four persons—a pope, a king, a priest and a layman. Above, two angels in the clouds, whence is extended the

- 188. Schmalz, Herbert (London). Christianæ ad Leones.

"The sect who were first called Christians in Antioch had that day borne good witness to their faith in Rome. The grim work was over for the stong; only the tenderest, the most innocent, saved from that death they envied for a crueller fate, had been borne to the circus with ribald jest and vile indignity. In the fierce glare of the arena waiting for the end—waiting there under the pitiless eyes of the populace, from senator and patrician dame, to low buffoon and parasite, weary of slaughter but insatiate for further blood—waiting till fear was lost in hope, and shame grew shameless, before the presence of death."

Sir John Tenniel was born in 1820. In 1851 he became a member of "Punch's" staff, and from that time he has contributed to the illustrations of that celebrated periodical. For a long period, without the break of a single week, he has produced the political cartoon, and may thus claim a high place, not only as an artist, but as a historian of the time.

- When the Thracian women tore Orpheus in pieces, it is said that his head, together with his lyre, fell into the river Hebrus, and that the head floated on the lyre, while the former sang in lamentation over Orpheus, and the latter echoed the song as the breezes swept the chords. And so both were wafted, amid the sounds of music, to Lesbos, where the Lesbians took up the head and buried it on the spot where their Temple of Bacchus now stands.—Lucian.

GROUPS 139 TO 145 INCLUSIVE.

The art productions of Japan, differing so widely from those of Western nations, and the installation being made to secure the best artistic effect in the space at command, there has been little attempt to separate the different groups of the classification. In cataloguing the exhibits, therefore, the order of installation has been followed rather than the order of classification.

EAST COURT—GROUND FLOOR—WEST END OF COURT.

UNDER A CANOPY.

- 375. Suzuki, Shirozayemon (Yokohama). Two vases and an incense burner, in Cloisonné.

These three pieces are the largest examples of Cloisonné enamel ever made. The vases are eight feet eight inches high. Work upon them was begun in 1890 and finished in January, 1898. They were designed especially for exhibition at the World's Columbian Exposition, and upon their completion were viewed by the Empress of Japan.

The designs on the vases were the idea of Mr. Shin Shiwoda, Special Counsellor for Arts of the Japanese Commission to the World's Columbian Exposition. Their manufacture was undertaken by Mr. Shirozayemon Suzuki, of Yokohama, with the co-operation of Mr. Seizayemon Tsunekawa, at Nagoya. The original design was painted by Mr. Kanpo Araki, of Tōkyō, and the black ink sketch on the copper was made by Kicsei

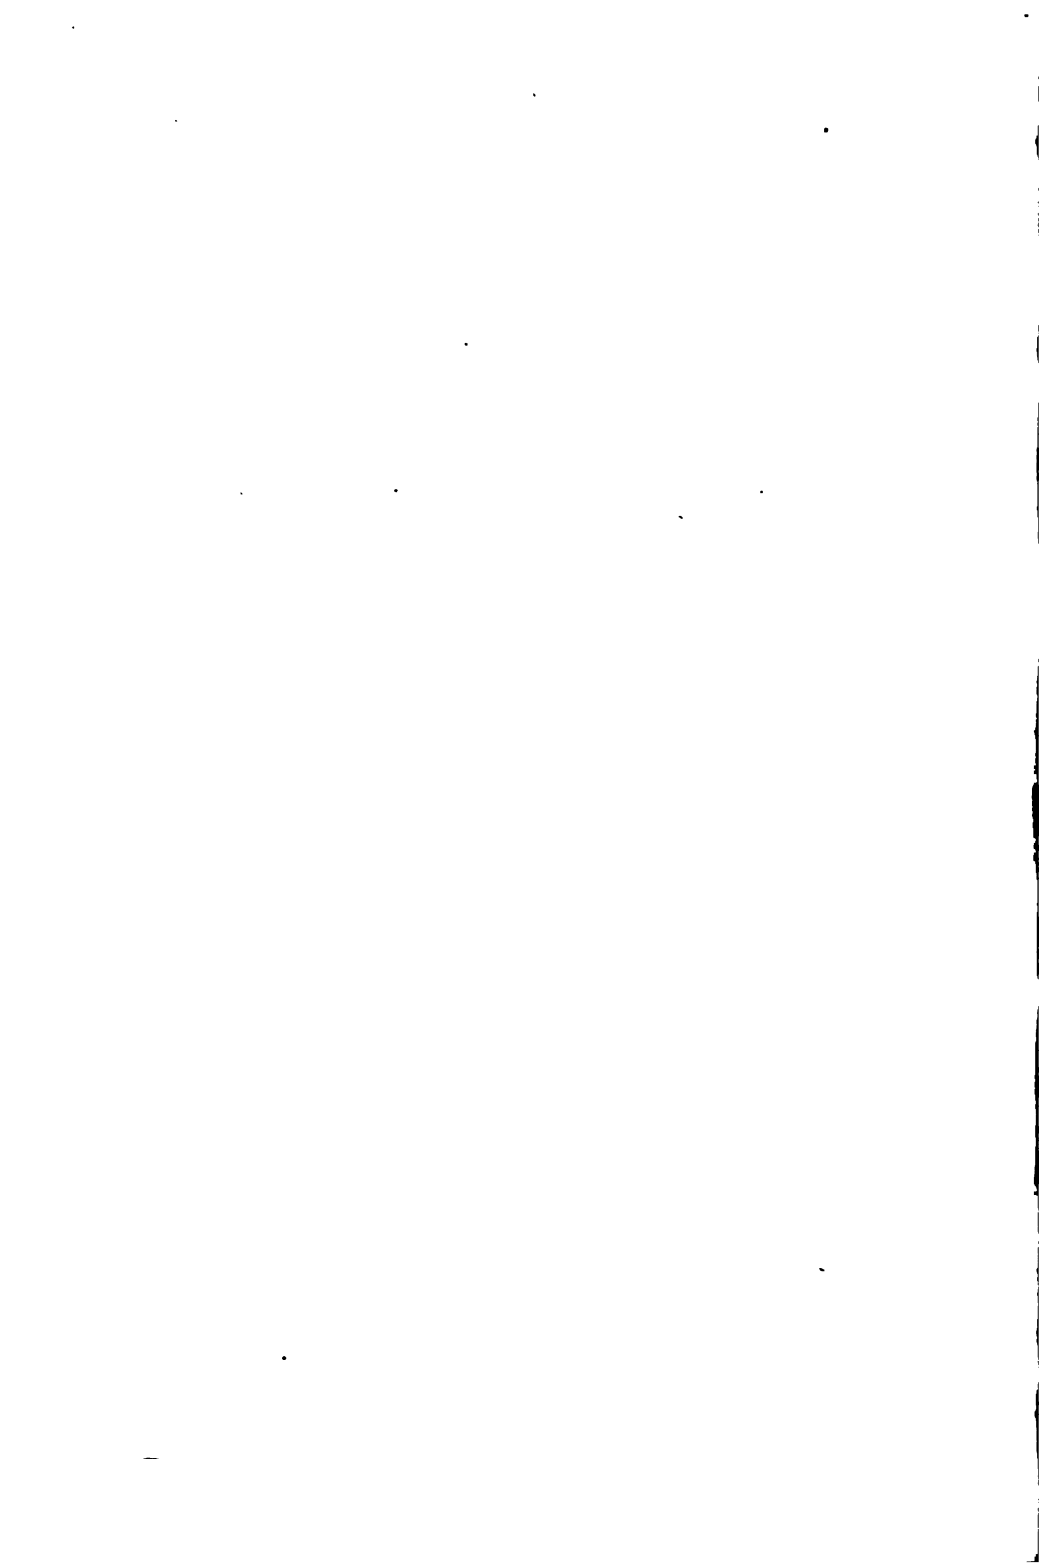

Oda, of Nagoya. The men directly in charge of making the vases were Gissaburo Tsukamoto and Kihio ye Hayaashi, of Toshima. The design for the wood carving was made by Setsuko Nishiyama, of Nagoya, and the carving was done by Kinsaburo Yeguchi, of Nagoya. The bronze American eagle was made by Yukimune Sugitara, of Tokyo. The general design represents the seasons of the year: the group of chickens typifying spring; the dragon, summer, and the two eagles, autumn; while on the reverse, with two red eagles, a winter scene is portrayed. The same design also symbolises three virtues—wisdom, honesty and strength, symbolised respectively, by the dragon, chickens and eagles.

Another idea conveyed by the front design is, that the dragon typifies China; the two eagles, Russia; the group of chickens, the Korean Islands, and the rising sun, the Empire of Japan; while the bronze eagle on the cover of the censer is the American eagle.

The silver stars inlaid on the horizontal red and white stripes on the top of the vases and censer are emblematic of the American stars and stripes, while the chrysanthemums and other Imperial floral emblems strewn on the stripes symbolise the close friendship between Japan and the United States. The handles of the vases are shaped after chrysanthemum leaves—the chrysanthemum being the imperial crest of Japan.

The blossoming cherry tree on the censer is symbolic also of spring. The full moon with the flight of birds, on one of the vases, symbolise summer and autumn. The lower portion of each vase shows bouquets of grasses of flowers native to Japan.

The pedestals on which the vases rest are made from keyaki, a hardwood tree grown in Japan, the wood of which is prized for its fine grain and durability. The pieces from which the pedestals are formed are two hundred years old, having been taken from a temple recently destroyed by an earthquake. The panels in the pedestals are carved from this wood and show seventy different specimens of flowers.

VENEZUELA.

NOTE.—Venezuela's application for space in the Art Palace was received long after the expiration of the period fixed for filing such application, and when all the space at the command of the department of Fine Arts had been assigned. The Art Exhibit of Venezuela was placed, therefore, in the Venezuela Government Building (North of the Fisheries Building.) It is considered, however, as belonging to the Department of Fine Arts, and, as such, was examined by the International Board of Judges.

SUMMARY OF ART EXHIBITS.

In this summary, certain groups have been consolidated—as "Sculpture" with "Engraving in Medallions, Gems, Cameos, Etc.," and "Painting on Ivory, on Enamel, on Porcelain, Etc.," with Keramics and general decorative art work.

Certain groups and classes overlap to such an extent that separation is almost impossible. Under Architecture there is included much that belongs equally to Sculpture and to Decoration; under Carvings, etc., much that belongs to Sculpture.

NOTES.

(a) The total indicated by the last number in the U. S. section is 3,002. This is increased by Decorative Art Work (examples of Rookwood pottery) not bearing Art Department numbers, though exhibited in the Art Palace.

INDEX OF ARTISTS.

To find the position of an artist's works, note, FIRST, the COUNTRY in which he exhibits, and find the number IN THE SECTION OF THAT COUNTRY. The numerous page headings and sub-headings readily will enable anyone to locate the GALLERY and PLACE of any particular work.

The plans of the Art Building (pages 6 and 7) will be found of great service to visitors to the galleries.
